Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-2 and 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ross et al. (2002/0132616).

Regarding claims 1 and 6, Ross discloses a local wireless communication network 10 for digital audio players (See fig. 1), the network 10 comprising: one or more content hosts 12, 18, 20; a plurality of digital audio players 14, 22, each having a wireless communication platform for establishing a communication link between at least one of the content hosts 12, 18, 20 and at least one of other digital audio player 14, 22, each digital audio player including a player storage device for storing digital content and the communication platform configured to automatically synchronize digital content between the digital audio players in range of one another (See fig. 1 and page 2 [0017-0021]).

Regarding claim 2, Ross discloses as cited in claim 1. Ross further discloses the host 12, 18 is configured as a gateway (See fig. 1).

Art Unit: 2682

Regarding claim 5, Ross discloses as cited in claim 1. Ross further discloses the host 20 is configured as a stand-alone gateway (See fig. 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ross et al. (2002/0132616).

Regarding claims 3-4, Ross discloses as cited in claim 1. However, Ross does not explicitly mention that the host is a set top box or a personal computer platform (PC). Since Ross does suggest the host is also a local emitter and the set top box or PC is known in the art as a local emitter; therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the set top box or the PC as the host for the advantage of expanding the capability of the system into various types of electronic devices.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Janik et al. (2002/0164973) ; Treyz et al. (6,678,215).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
